The Reformatory School.

This School, which is ordinarily known as above, is an Industrial as well as Reform School. The pupils are sometimes committed there by the magistrates, and sometimes sent there by their parents or articles, I freely acknowledge, serve to keep our guardians. It does not follow that the rulers on the alert as to the wants of the comboys who are there are radically bad; it | munity; but others are so reckless of the public may be that they have fallen into tempta- good, and the information conveyed is sometimes tion for petty sins; it may be that they have had no one to care for them, and in some cases the percents are unable to gove establishment;

The natives did to the boys. At the same time, the Board not know how to use the tools of civilized agritook into consideration that it would be culture, nor were there men to be had competent advantageous, both to the boys and the to teach them, or to carry on the business with public, if some gentleman could be in- efficiency and economy. Merchants left their public, if some gentieman could be in-duced to take some of them and cause offices, clerks their desks, seamen their ships, and mechanics their benches, to undertake the manthem to be instructed in the management of a sugar-house, and, as far as possible, at that, in consequence, money was poured out "in all the art and mystery of making like water, and debts were incurred, which, with sugar." This arrangement was agreeable to the Superintendent of the school, place from having been a near neighbor for several years, and was very acceptable to the boys themselves, and the Board, at their subsequent meeting, (July 24th,) having resumed the consideration of the subject, passed the following Resolution:

" Resolved. That the offer of the proprietor of the Kaneohe Plantation to give employment on the said estate to such of the larger boys of the Reformatory School as are willing to go, and as Miss Parker shall desire to part with, be ac-

" All honor to the members of the Board who in the face of rank, wealth, and unscrupnious, ROYAL HAWAIIAN THEATRE power, firmly refused that consent. The friendless wards of the nation sent to be "educated and reformed" by delving on a sugar plantation ! What enormity is to follow?"

Appear to be ridiculous enough, when it becomes apparent that the Board did not refuse their consent. And when one talks of equal men "standing up in the presence of rank, wealth and station," it is mere stuff. We take it, that the President of the Board, the Minister of Interior, the Minister of Finance, and the Hon. Chas. R. Bishop meet their colleague on terms of equality in every respect.

Mr. Harris' proposition was to take the boys as apprentices by indenture, and cause them to be well instructed in all branches of the sugar manufacture. Any gentleman with whom the boys are willing to go, whom the Board shall approve of, can have such boys as are of suitable age by giving like bonds. The enormity of sending boys to labor on a sugar plantation, when taken in connection with the previous sentence in the same article, as follows:

"Now were these boys to be 'educated' at Kaneohe so as to become highly skilled in the art and mystery of making sugar, it might perhaps result profitably to themselves, to the sngar interests and to the nation at large;" Is sufficiently ridiculous to need no com-

The boys have not gone to Kaneohe because the Manager of the plantation has not as yet been able to make such arrangements for their reception as he deems suitable.
